PHILLIPS ACADEMY GRADUATES

One Hundred Six Young Men Received Diplomas This Morning at 138th Commencement Exercises. Baccalaureate by Dr. Speer.

Phillips Academy closed its 138th year to-day with the graduating exercises of the Senior class in the chapel at 10.30, 106 boys receiving diplomas. The commencement week began last Sunday when the baccalaureate sermon was preached by Dr. Robert E. Speer of Englewood, N. J. Monday evening in the chapel the fifth annual Junior speaking was held under the direction of Frederic W. H. Stott, and Wednesday night the golden anniversary of the founding of the Draper prizes for selected declamations was fittingly observed, when an Andover boy, William Boardman Knox, was unanimously awarded first prize by the judges.

The Class Day exercises on Thursday afternoon were not favored with good weather and lacked their usual brightness. This morning the last exercises of the Class of 1916 were held with Cum Laude initiation, graduating exercises and awarding of prizes.

The Baccalaureate

The chapel was filled with a congregation of students and visitors Sunday afternoon when Dr. Robert E. Speer delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the class. The Seniors marched into the chapel preceded by Principal Stearns.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING HELD

Town Votes to Rescind Action of Citizens at Annual Meeting in Regard to Abbott Village Sewer. To Extend Water Service and Build Curbing to Frye Village

Monday evening in the Town Hall nearly two hundred voters attended the special town meeting, called chiefly to give relief to the residents of Abbott and Marland Village from the excessive sewer assessments levied by the Board of Public Works. By the vote of the town at the special meeting held March 31, 1915, the town voted to extend the sewer system to Abbott and Marland Villages and decided to tax the abutters 75 per cent of the cost. The big expense of putting the sewer in from Phillips street to Abbott Village centre, made this assessment three times as much as in other sections of the town. Monday night after a long discussion the citizens voted to rescind this previous action and to assess the abutters in the villages according to the general plan approved by the town in 1895.

There was also a lively debate when the water bond issue came up for consideration and there was considerable objection to giving the Board of Public Works any of the $10,000. It was finally voted to allow them half of the amount for certain extensions already promised, but unable to be done on account of lack of funds.

The meeting was called to order at 7.45 by Moderator Alfred L. Ripley, who read the warrant, after which the several articles were discussed.

A Charming Gluck Record, of "My Old Kentucky Home"

The pure loveliness of Gluck's voice is shown to excellent advantage in this simple ballad of the old South. The famous song of Stephen Foster's always fastens upon the heart, and the warm beauty of the singer's voice lends to it an exceptionally sympathetic effect. A quartet of male voices adds to the attraction of this new rendition of the old plantation melody.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

Chairman Barnett Rogers of the Board of Public Works moved that Article 1 be taken up, the article reading as follows:

ARTICLE 1.—To see if the Town will vote to rescind that part of the vote of Article 1 of the warrant of the Special Town Meeting held March 31, 1915, whereby the owners of estates situated in the territory embraced by a sewerage system, and benefited thereby, as shown on a plan of McClintock & Woodfall, dated June 8, 1908, on the west side of the Shawheen River between Central and Stevens Streets, were assessed 75% of the cost, the Town to pay 25% of the cost.

This article created quite a little discussion in which Chairman Rogers of the Board of Public Works, Judge G. W. Canna, Charles W. Clark, T. E. Rhodes, J. E. Dodge, David Leslie, H. M. Eames, Henry Povo, Wm. J. Cronin, Frank L. Cole, all participated. The main point brought out was that the residents of Abbott and Marland villages were being called upon to pay an unjust burden of the new extension, a large portion of the cost of which was caused by the discontinuance of the pump house on Phillips street and the extension of the sewerage system along the Shawheen River and the erection of the new pump house on North Main street, which expenditure could not really be laid upon the residents of this section.

Mr. Rogers during his presentation of the facts in the case quoted chapter 386, section 11, acts of 1895 which was as follows:

"Approved May 14, 1895.—The owners of such estates shall be assessed by said commissioners their proportional parts respectively of such portion of the total cost of said system as is not borne by the town as above provided; such proportional parts shall be based upon the estimated average cost of all the sewers composing said system and shall be assessed by a fixed uniform rate according to the frontage of such estates on any street or way in which a sewer is constructed, or according to the area of each such estate within a fixed depth from such street or way, or according to both frontage and area."

After a good deal of discussion on the point involved, the motion was made and seconded that the town vote to rescind their previous action according to the article in the warrant and the motion was carried without any opposition.

Article 2 was then taken up, the article reading as follows:

ARTICLE 2.—To see if the Town will vote to amend that part of the vote of Article 1 of the warrant of the Special Town Meeting held March 31, 1915, whereby the owners of estates situated in the territory embraced by a sewerage system, and benefited thereby, shown on a plan of McClintock & Woodfall, dated June 8, 1908, on the west side of the Shawheen River between Central and Stevens Streets, the following rate, as recommended by the Board of Public Works in their report of 1908: Viz: Fifty (50) cents to be assessed on each foot of lot frontage on such street or way, as per square foot upon the area of said estate, no estate to be assessed to a depth exceeding 120 feet from the front of same. Upon all corner lots assessments for lot frontage shall be levied as before stated, upon the whole frontage of such estates which abut on such street or way; a sewer is first laid, upon the other street or streets or ways upon which such corner lots or estates abut, as exceptions, as to be determined by the Board of Public Works, of not exceeding sixty (60) feet of the frontage assessment shall be made on such streets or ways; and the assessments before provided shall be levied on all the remainder of the frontage on such streets or ways.

Chairman Rogers of the Board of Public Works moved that the town accept the same, and the motion was seconded by T. E. Rhodes. Judge Cann moved to amend the article by charging for the full depth of all land, instead of only a 120-foot depth. The amendment was not seconded. Mr. Clark asked the chairman of the board of public works if the proposed article was the same method as used in the past in levying sewer assessments. Mr. Rogers replied that it was the same custom as had always been used. The motion was put to a vote and carried.

Article 3 was then taken up, the article reading as follows:

ARTICLE 3.—To see if the Town will vote to issue Water Loan Bonds or notes to the amount of $10,000 for the purpose of extending the main service lines of its water system as authorized by Chapter 262, Acts of 1916, on petition of the Board of Public Works.

Mr. Rhodes spoke in favor of the motion and placed a motion before the house to authorize the town treasurer to issue water bonds as per Chapter 262, Acts of 1916 of the Legislature. The motion was seconded by Barnett Rogers. Joseph Chambers asked if the Board of Public Works had any other water extension work in view besides Bellevue road. Mr. Rogers replied there was another application. Charles W. Clark questioned the right of the Board of Public Works to use any more of the issue than the amount the voters should take action upon at any meeting, in which he was upheld. Judge Cann moved an amendment that the matter be laid on the table. The amendment was seconded by J. E. Dodge, but lost on a voice vote. The original motion by T. E. Rhodes was then put, and upon a rising vote, there were 116 in favor and one opposed. Judge Cann then moved that the sum of $5,000 be placed at the disposal of the Board of Public Works, the balance of the issue to remain in the town treasury for future work, subject to a vote by the town. John Traynor moved an amendment that the whole issue of $10,000 be placed at the disposal of the Board of Public Works, but the amendment was lost. Judge Cann's motion was then put to a vote by the moderator and was carried.

Article 4 was next taken up, the article reading as follows:

ARTICLE 4.—To see if the Town will vote to transfer to the Highway Department $2500.00—the unexpended balance of $5000.00 appropriated at the March meeting, for use on Lowell Street, said transfer being necessary owing to the unusual amount required in removing snow and sanding walks during the past winter, on petition of the Board of Public Works.

Charles Baldwin spoke in favor of this article and said that the board of Public Works had been advised by the state Highway Commission and the County Commissioners that $2,500 each would only be appropriated this year, and the town would spend the same amount. He also said that, during the past winter, it had been necessary to spend a considerable amount of money for removing snow and sanding sidewalks, and that the expense of this department would equal pretty close to $4,000 before the end of the present year. The motion was opposed by Joseph Chambers, but upon being put to a vote the article was carried almost unanimously.

The original motion as passed at the town meeting in March was read by Moderator Ripley and was as follows:

"That the town appropriate the sum of $5,000, the amount to be used not to exceed $5,000 or such an amount as shall be contributed by the state and county."

According to the original vote the sum of $5,000 was not appropriated, but the sum appropriated was not to exceed an equal sum appropriated by both the state and county. After some discussion, it was voted to transfer the $2,500 for the use of the Board of Public Works.

Article 5 was next taken up, the article reading as follows:

ARTICLE 5.—To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $2000 for curbing on the west side of North Main Street from Stimson's Bridge to Poor Street, on petition of the Board of Public Works.

Chairman Rogers of the Board of Public Works explained the request, saying that the abutters had agreed to pay for the cost of a granolithic sidewalk if the town agreed to pay the cost of curbing. John Traynor made the motion that $2,000 be appropriated and it was seconded. After some discussion for and against the motion, it was amended and seconded that the article be laid upon the table, but when the amendment was put to a vote, it was lost and the original motion to appropriate the sum of $2,000 was then put to a vote and was carried.

Article 6, the last article, was then taken up:

ARTICLE 6.—To see if the Town will vote to authorize the moderator to fill vacancies caused by death, resignation, or inability to serve in any committee appointed by him at any legal town meeting.

Judge Cann moved that the moderator be given the power asked for, which was seconded and carried.

A motion was then made and seconded to adjourn, which was carried at 9.32 p.m.

BOSTON THEATRES

PARK SQUARE

Several efforts have been made by the management of "The Princess Pat" company, now playing at the Park Square theatre, Boston, to terminate its run with a great protest against going public. There is nothing strange in the fact that the management must insist upon its early closing, despite its great popularity and every indication that the piece could run well into the summer. The members of the company, from chorus to principals, are yearning for the necessary rest that one deserves after a long and arduous season. For it must be remembered that the present aggregation has been appearing uninterruptedly since early last August. It would require no strenuous brain effort to ascertain, in a jiffy, the great strain this labor must have upon one's voice. Therefore the management makes the final announcement that there are but few opportunities for playgoers to view this delightful opera. It is many years since Boston has been visited with such a remarkable and entrancing musical comedy. The score is written in Victor Herbert's most prolific vein while the dialogue sparkles with keen and brilliant humor. The story of the play is unusually clever and unlike the majority is possessed of a perfectly running theme from beginning to end. There is plenty to "The Princess Pat" to tempt one to see it more than once, as has been the rule since the piece opened in Boston more than two months ago. There are more than a score of tuneful melodies, the kind that lingers long in your memory. If you would enjoy one of the best musical pieces of the past decade don't fail to see "The Princess Pat." To miss it is a regret not easily forgotten. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees are given, commencing at 2.10, while all evening performances start at 8.10 promptly. The scale of prices range from 50 cents to $2.00 and the usual careful and immediate attention is given to mail orders.

SHUBERT

At last Boston is to see a motion picture officially sponsored by the British Government. Next Monday at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, the public will learn from the films made under the direction of Charles Urban one of the most timely lessons imaginable: "How Britain Prepared," how the late Lord Kitchener went about it to transform 5,000,000 civilians into a vast and efficient army in a year and a half. And they also will learn why the British were able safely to perform this gigantic task on their little island while the continent of Europe was being inundated in blood, when they see the motion pictures taken on board the principal battleships of Admiral Jellicoe's great fleet of dreadnoughts as they patrol the North Sea, bottling up their enemy in the harbor of Kiel.

They are not "war pictures," so called. During the two hours and more which it takes to unfold them only one "war film" is shown—the destruction of a German blockhouse in Flanders.

"How Britain Prepared" was brought over here a short time ago by Mr. Urban, with permission of Mr. Balfour, Lord Kitchener, Lloyd George, of the British War Cabinet.

Boy Scout Notes

This week is an exceedingly busy one with the Boy Scouts of America. Two months ago work was started with forty boys. At present the enrolment is very near one hundred eager boys. The boys are continually learning new things about the common, everyday work. A large number of boys have shown remarkable ability in grasping the essentials of Boy Scout work and every sign points toward a wonderful organization of boys that will be heard from in the years to come. Already a number of the boys are becoming proficient in signaling, first aid work, wireless telegraphy, and nature study.

The boys have been divided into four troops, having one inside meeting each week and an outdoor hike each Saturday.

Flag Day was fittingly observed by the Scouts. Assembling at the headquarters in the lower town hall at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, the Scouts, led by their Bugle and Drum Corps, marched to the high school where they listened to President Wilson's Flag Day proclamation, read by Scout Executive Lewis. Principal Moras of the Stowe school then gave a short address on the American Flag which was listened to attentively by these men of tomorrow.

Saturday several Scouts will go with the Scout Executive to the annual field day of the Greater Boston Council at the Stadium in Cambridge. Three thousand Boy Scouts of Boston will participate in the activities. The rest of the Scouts will go on a short hike led by Senior Inter-troop Patrol Leader Carse.

The Scouts are all busy planning for the Scout camp which will be held probably during the two summer months. The headquarters is now open nearly all day and a large number of the Scouts avail themselves of the opportunity of studying Scout craft throughout the day.

McKEEVER. HOW TO BECOME AN EFFICIENT SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER. Will furnish immature Sunday school teachers, studying by themselves, or in training classes, with rudiments of child study and pedagogy from the kindergarten period to adult life, and with many general suggestions and a few definite details on teaching methods. —268 M19

ROOSEVELT. FEAR GOD AND TAKE YOUR OWN PART. These chapters, revised most of them from articles lately contributed to magazines, have interest, not because the author says much that is new, but because he courageously applies his well-known ideals of patriotism and internationalism to such questions of the moment as preparedness, our duty in Mexico and in Europe, hyphenated Americans, and the Lusitania affair. —327 R677

MASEFIELD. GOOD FRIDAY AND OTHER POEMS. "Good Friday," a dramatic poem, presents the events leading to and following Christ's crucifixion, with a true poetic feeling for the tragedy and its effect on the different classes of spectators. The other poems are some sixty sonnets. —821 M37g

HAY. FIRST HUNDRED THOUSAND. Recounts the training camp and actual fighting experiences of fictitious though typical members of Captain Hay-Beith's own regiment, the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, who furnished a part of Kitchener's first hundred thousand. True incidents, leavened with humor and pathos and enlivened with clever bit of character drawing; so alive that they make the reader understand better than any reporter can, the "real make-up of the British soldier." —940.9 H32

HERRICK. THE WORLD DECISION. Interpretations and impressions of events in Rome while Italy was hesitating on the verge of war, and in France, wounded, yet taking up her life again with new courage. The final pages deal with America; and here the author, with his vision of a decisive struggle between world ideals, is aroused at our indifference. The book possesses decided literary quality and contains many delightful references to other things than war. —940.9 H32

RICHARDS, ELLIOTT & HALL. JULIA WARD HOWE. 2v. Interesting, very complete life of this gifted woman, in which Mrs. Howe's three daughters have told her story through her journals, letters and writings, making it almost autobiographical. The facts of her life are all here, outlook on life is also intimately revealed in her own words. Numerous and good illustrations. —92 H335r

BASEBALL
Punchard High Defeated by Exeter in Annual Game

The Punchard High School baseball nine was defeated by the Exeter High School team at Exeter on last Wednesday afternoon by the score of 12 to 1. The Exeter boys outplayed the Punchard lads in all departments of the game. The hitting of the local team was not up to the standard maintained by them during the past season. When hits meant runs the boys were not there with the punch. It may be said, however, that the Exeter team got all the breaks. Two or three times during the game with men on second and third, and once with the bases full, the Punchard boys hit liners directly at some fielder.

In the fifth inning the Exeter lads scored two runs on two hits, a stolen base, and a base on balls. This ended the scoring for Exeter until the fifth inning when they scored seven runs on six hits, five stolen bases and two errors.

Three more runs were added to Exeter's score in the seventh on three hits, two passed balls and a stolen base.

Punchard's only run came in the sixth inning when Lawson reached first on a hit. G. Brown fouled out to Charles. Cronin beat out an infield hit, sliding Lawson to second. Lawson stole third and Bowman sent him in with a single to left field. Sellers was thrown out at first on a ground ball to Eastman.

For the Punchard team, Lawson, Cronin and Bowman played a good game, while for Exeter, Charles, a former Andover boy, Flannigan, Broderick and Eastman were the features. The summary:

Punchard 11, Stoneham 9

On last Tuesday afternoon the Punchard baseball team defeated Stoneham High School nine on the playfield by the score of 11 to 9. The contest was marked by loose fielding and heavy hitting on both sides. Webster, who started in the box for Punchard, was hit hard and seven runs were scored in two innings off his delivery. McNally, who succeeded Webster, pitched excellent ball, holding his opponents to seven hits and striking out ten men in seven and two-thirds innings. For Punchard, Walker, George Brown and McNally excelled; while for the home team, Sargent and Healy were the stars. The summary:

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN RETROSPECT

The Republican National Convention has had a world significance for nearly sixty years, but never in that long period has a Republican National Convention meant more to the nation directly involved than in 1916.

Men who were fortunate enough to be leaders of the 1916 convention possess a memory that will be treasured for long years. It is a memory representing to many the following striking features:

A new appreciation of the power resting in concentrated purpose.

A broader knowledge of many phases of human nature.

A better understanding of the American spirit which never fails to assert itself in great crises.

A larger confidence in the sort of leadership which springs from unselfish devotion to party and country.

Practically a thousand men were there as the official representatives of the great party in the nation, charged with the duty of selecting a leader for the coming campaign, yet probably not one-tenth of the number had any positive knowledge as to who that candidate was to be or how he was to be finally chosen.

The other nine-tenths of the number did, however, have a fixed confidence that in some way a leader would be chosen who would accomplish a realization of the great need pressing upon the party and the nation at the present time.

They had this confidence because they were all a part of a concentrated purpose involving much greater work than the mere naming of a candidate.

The men in the Republican convention were made to realize twenty-four hours of each day that a big gathering of delegates representing a large percentage of the old Republican party were as disturbed as were the regular Republicans over the fact that a disrupted Republican party could never accomplish the great purpose for which a united Republican party stands.

The insistence of the delegates attending the Progressive convention, upon a single candidacy, was recognized by the Republicans less in its application to the individual than in its application to the principles which that individual was preaching almost daily.

Progressives could never forget the individual in their agitation. Republicans never for a moment forgot the principles for which such a union of forces was made to restore Republican rule to the nation in this critical time, were swayed by an unconscious influence that led all except the radicals in the two camps, to hold an unflinching confidence that the ultimate result of both conventions would be a united Republican party under a single leadership.

Who the leader was to be was never forecasted, nor supported in detail until the last day of the Republican convention, but every minute from the time when the men gathered until the close, there was felt by the great majority of the delegates a supreme confidence that the outcome would be satisfactory and full of promise for the restoration of Republican power in the United States.

This feeling of confidence undoubtedly made the Republican convention of 1916 the most striking illustration of results that may be secured by concentrated purpose, that has ever marked the gathering of any great number of representative citizens in this country.

Many and varied are the experiences that could be cited to illustrate the second striking note marked by the writer in connection with the national convention in his reference to the acquirement of a broader knowledge secured of many phases of human nature.

Practically every newspaper has told us that the Old Guard was no longer in control, and this was true; yet certain members of the so-called "old guard" were willingly granted opportunity to be the great dominant factors in not only directing the affairs of the Republican convention, but in directing and participating in all of the efforts made for a reconciliation of the two branches of the Republican party.

The human nature noted in the average delegate, who resented any prominence given to certain of the old leaders, turned to joy and satisfaction in connection with certain others in whom supreme confidence was placed, and while it is true that new faces were noted and many new names made up a large part of the convention, the old leaders who had failed in emergencies were trusted implicitly, and a part of the old forces allowed to dominate completely.

A few timid souls had waited with fear and trembling the utterance of the name of Roosevelt in connection with the presentation of the long list of candidates. Then was to come the "stampede"—that sort of indefinite thing which in some previous conventions has changed the will of the majority so that the minority controlled.

Red parrots were to be waved, crazy women were to use every art and wile they possessed to make the convention do what it didn't want to do. Before that name came, all of those things had happened in connection with several other candidacies, and except for the immediate and in every case meagre number of intense partisans, the convention delegates paid practically no attention to noise or freak action.

"Wait until Roosevelt's name comes!" was the call, "and you will see what will happen," and in anticipation the convention waited.

A speaker of very ordinary capacity, as a number of them were who made nominating speeches—was introduced as a delegate from New Mexico; he tells the story of one of the nation's great Americans; he paints the picture that practically every American is familiar with. Nine hundred and fifty delegates sit quietly in their seats. Probably three to five thousand visitors can hardly restrain themselves, as with a flourish the speaker closes with that supposedly magic word of "Roosevelt".

Probably fifty delegates applaud, probably ten thousand men and women in the audience give generous response to the appeal of the speaker. In five minutes the ten thousand has given way to half the number but the intensity of the agitation has doubled even though the number has been halved. A woman with grey hair and black gown, starts a procession around the hall, waving an American flag. In the gallery is the same woman who four years before gained fame—and notoriety—by her manifestations of interest in the candidacy of Colonel Roosevelt. She is no longer the central figure. The grey-haired dame on the floor holds the center of the stage, and for something over half an hour she succeeds, first on the floor, then on the raised platform at which sit the newspaper reporters, and finally on top of a press table, by her actions, agitations, gyrations, exhortations, and exclamations, and all other "ations" that can be thought of by anyone, in making the cranks, the freaks and the crazy people keep up the enthusiasm which is shared in by probably two or three thousand intelligent, honest, and earnest supporters of the great man whose name they continue to howl to the gathering.

From one end of the country to the other this is proclaimed as a demonstration. Undoubtedly it was, carefully manufactured, offensively nurtured and in some respects disgustingly maintained; but through it all, with an indifference that led many to calmly read the daily newspaper, and practically all of them to take no interest in anything except the silly sideights turned upon the scene, more than nine hundred delegates sat and calmly waited for the realization of the concentrated purpose of the Republican convention.

The work of choosing a candidate for vice-president was most perfunctory. True, several names were suggested, but all over the convention, suggestions of political matters in Indiana seemed to make it wise that there should be linked with Mr. Hughes, the name of a former vice-president in the person of Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana. Hardly a handful of delegates is left in the convention when the announcement of that gentleman's name is made. The work is done. An hour later only the sweepers and the various workmen necessary to dismantle the great building are left in the Coliseum. Hotels, railroad stations, important centres all over the big city of Chicago are filled with the great mass of people who have been part of the most important political gathering the nation has ever known.

"A remarkable nomination," is the universal comment, seldom having the same meaning as expressed by any two persons. "Why remarkable?"—A great man named—yes; a leader in whom the nation can have confidence—yes; the only man in the country who can unite all Republicans—yes; a big campaigner, powerful speaker, winning candidate. Yes. And yet these do not express the reason why the convention deserves the title of the party's and the nation's greatest. Above and beyond these reasons stands out the one great, dominant "Why", answered by the fact that the head of a nation of one hundred million people has been named through no efforts of his own but in answer to a nation's need.

Massachusetts had a big part in the convention and in most respects she played her part well. Some of the great newspapers have expressed some pretty emphatic sentiments relative to the division among the delegates and the failure of the delegates to get together. While the writer believes that this is not at all fair to claim that it is so reprehensible as some who talk about it and some who write about it would have us consider it. Some reprehensible things were done by some men who should have known better than to assume responsibilities which led them to do them, but nothing is to be gained by making public proclamation regarding such reprehensible things or continuing any bitter feeling that may have been engendered by the doing of them.

The writer is not inclined to consider it at all to the discredit of Massachusetts that on the great issue of selecting a candidate for the Presidential nomination, the delegation was divided. As a loyal supporter of Senator Weeks, not alone because of his worthiness, but from the standpoint of a feeling of duty which he owed to his neighbor, his friend, and a citizen of the state who has made good and who was bringing further prestige and greater honors to the State of Massachusetts because of his candidacy, it was a pleasure to give his vote to that gentleman until he himself withdrew his name. That some others in the convention did not feel this way does not for a moment mark them as deserving of censure such as has been heaped upon them in some quarters. It is most unfortunate that the Governor of the Commonwealth has been obliged to share in this censure, which is undeserved and untrue. His position has been known from the first. Why he took it is his own concern. To take it was his right. That he took it honestly no man who knows him need have any doubt.

Massachusetts still has great work for these men to do. Her junior Senator goes back to Washington richer in power to serve the people of Massachusetts than ever before because he has passed through this latest experience. He "bears no scars", let his followers do likewise. None of us need have fear that he will do his work with one whit less enthusiasm or serve his State with a bit less loyalty and high purpose because he has failed in this ambition.

The nation is rich in the possession of such men as Senator Weeks as workers in her public service, and Massachusetts is even richer because she can give of his service to the nation.

As for the Governor, he hasn't lost a particle in the affections of the people of the State or in his power for service because of his part in the convention. The manly statement he has already given to the press shows how the call to what he considered his duty appealed to him and what action it demanded of him. Nor has his part lessened at all his political hold on Massachusetts; it has rather strengthened the confidence the people have in his independence of thought and any action he may take founded upon his conception of duty.

The press of the nation tells part of the story of the place one Massachusetts man had in the big work performed. He didn't make any speeches. He occupied little attention in the public eye, but if any single individual carried the burden involved in the "concentrated purpose" of the convention it was this same Massachusetts man. Long ago he enlisted as a supporter of his personal friend, the junior Senator of Massachusetts. With rare knowledge of American politics that has never been matched by any other American, he saw that there must be found another leader who could better unite all factions of the party. His rare skill pointed him to the man who has been chosen. His knowledge of Republican politics had already placed him as one of the leaders holding the confidence of all types interested in the one common purpose even though enthused along many different routes to reach that purpose.

With true statesmanlike patience, with unflagging zeal, without rest or worry, the master mind worked. He was obliged to forego the personal compliment, and failed in a measure to help personal ambitions as some had hoped he would, but passing all of these, which to him must be minor considerations, he became the great factor who worked out the final result. Winthrop Murray Crane of Massachusetts without question stands today as the great Republican leader devoting himself unselfishly to party and country. He more than any other American citizen, succeeded in making the Republican National Convention realize the concentrated purpose for which it was called, making it demonstrate the highest type of Americanism, and through his direction causing it to be the place in which Republicans found an opportunity to know their fellowmen better, and realize, out of its deliberations and because of its results, a larger confidence in Republican leaders and Republican principles.

THE EDITOR.

ATTENDED BOTH CONVENTIONS

William Shaw has returned from Chicago. He was a member of a committee consisting of Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University, ex-Governor Eugene N. Foss, Hon. Daniel A. Poling, of Boston, and Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, of Indianapolis that presented a plank calling for national constitutional prohibition to the Resolutions committees of the Republican and Progressive conventions.

Mr. Shaw was a guest of both conventions, and reports a most interesting experience. He says, "The Republican Committee voted unanimously against the submission of the prohibition plank. In the Progressive Convention, when the question was introduced from the floor, it was voted down by a vote of 523 to 82, though when called upon by the chairman to express their personal sentiments with reference to prohibition, they voted almost unanimously in its favor." He characterized the Progressive party "as sitting with a telephone at each ear, awaiting instructions from Oyster Bay and the Coliseum before taking action on either a platform or a candidate." In my judgment, the party is dead, but its principles will live.

The delegates to the Republican Convention were a solid, substantial set of men, who could 'sit tight' through any emotional storm and at the proper time calmly vote according to the direction of their leaders. The enthusiasm was in the galleries, but the business was transacted in the quiet of the hotel headquarters.

On this trip West, Mr. Shaw addressed an immense rally of the Indiana State Prohibition Convention in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis, and the annual officers' banquet of the Chicago Christian Endeavor Union.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY

The annual field day of the Cricket Club will be held on Saturday afternoon, June 17, in the Cricket field. This will be the fifth of its kind and while it follows the former picnics in general features, there is no doubt but that this one will surpass all others. The club is enjoying one of its most prosperous seasons in a good many years so with this encouragement, the committee, which is an experienced one, assures an afternoon crowded with enjoyment for men, women and children both participants and spectators.

A special feature will be the five-side football. There are ten teams entered including the local soccer stars and players from Boston, Beverly and Lowell. The teams entered are Andover United, Thistles and Glan Johnston of this town; Bunting of Lowell; Rovers of Boston; U.S.M.A.A. of Beverly; Clan McPherson, Olympic 1st and 2nd and Brechin City of Lawrence.

CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

"The Pilgrimage of the Rose"
Splendidly Rendered Tuesday Night in Chapel Before Large Audience.

The Andover Choral Society in its last concert of the season Tuesday night gave a very fine rendition of "The Pilgrimage of the Rose" by Robert Schumann and the chorus singing was probably as good as any the organization has done. The society had the assistance of the well-trained choir of Phillips Academy and the addition to the male sections gave a splendid balance which made the chorus ring true.

The work as its title indicates represents the return of spring and all nature is rejoicing, all except the little Rose. The Rose desires to be a maiden and the Queen of the Fairies grants her request and gives her a magic rose which she is charged to carry with her on her earthly pilgrimage. All through her journey, she cares for it and when all that she has hoped for has been granted she relinquishes the rose at her offspring and returns not to Roseland, but to the land of the Angels.

The music is beautiful throughout and every stage of the Pilgrimage finds expression from the master mind of Schumann. Opening with the trio, "Of loving will the token" which was well rendered by Mrs. Moore, Miss Newman and Miss Mitchell, all of Andover, the cantata proved to be one of the most enjoyable the Choral Society has ever sung. The chorus sang well and especially in "In Dancing." "And now at the Miller's" and the finale, "Rosebud, seek not thy flow'ry land." The first and last of these three were by the female voices which blended well. Perhaps the best rendered number was the chorus, "In the thick wood hast wander'd" and the choir of the academy which has been very efficiently trained by Mr. Pfatfeicher deserves the largest share of the credit.

The solo work was well taken care of by Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Hackett and Mrs. Kidder and they all had abundance of opportunity to show their vocal abilities. As usual Mr. Pfatfeicher conducted with vigor and enthusiasm and the piano accompaniments were efficiently played by Mrs. Angus. Mr. Hudson was at the organ and a small but effective orchestra rendered great assistance. The orchestra included L. D. Scirven, Mrs. Rundlett, first violins; Miss Ella Holt, second violin; Edward Brook, Miss Helen Eaton, cello; Dr. A. C. Hulme, cornet; N. C. Barnes, flute; C. F. Stohn, trumpet.

The most gratifying thing outside of the excellent performance was the attendance the audience being the largest which has attended a concert of the society.

The society will give for the first concert next fall, Bach's "Christmas Oratorio."

Plattsburg

To the Editor of The Townsman:
Many of our fellow townsman may not know that the Federal Training camps have obtained legislative recognition under the Army Reorganization Bill which became law June 3, 1916. Under this law the Secretary of War is given authority to conduct Federal Camps using regular officers and troops for purposes of instruction.

The law provides that expense of transportation, subsistence and uniform for men attending shall be borne by the Government. The law cannot become effective until an appropriation is made available under the separate Army Appropriation Bill. It is believed that a satisfactory appropriation will be secured, however, and definite announcement as to this will be made as soon as possible. Meanwhile it seems safe to assume that at least a considerable part of the expense will be borne by the Government.

Any man who is willing to consider enrolling for one of these camps is urged to consult the New England Enrollment Committee at 42 Water street, Boston.

The undersigned would be very glad indeed to talk with any one interested.

OUTDOOR ENTERTAINMENT

The outdoor entertainment given by the pupils of the various grades of the John Dove and Samuel C. Jackson schools postponed from last week Thursday on account of the rain was presented Tuesday afternoon before a large audience on the lawn in front of the school. The entertainment included folk dancing, songs, dramas, gymnastics, drills and relay races, ending with a salute to the flag, and the singing of America. At the opening of the program the children marched on to the grounds with the boy scouts drumming for the march, the good training given the children being shown in their marching. The setting for the entertainment was especially good. The flag salute by the entire school was very impressive; and the whole program was excellently carried out and great credit is due all those having part in it.

The program was as follows:

Miss Duval's Class—Grade I
Folk Dance: Danish "Dance of Greeting" Song: "The Bird's Nest"
When I Am Big
Bonny Hula
Miss Chase's Class—Grade III

Folk Dance: "Lady Dainty"
Folk Dance: "The Climes of Denmark" America
Entire School

The Victor machine used was lent through the courtesy of Mr. Allen and the tickets were given through the courtesy of Mr. Cole of The Andover Townsman. The amount realized from the entertainment was $63.50, which will be devoted to the "Children of America's Fund" for the benefit of the suffering children of the warring nations.

Christ Church

The order of service for Trinity Sunday at Christ Church will be as follows:

Organ Prelude
Proclamation, Hymn 386
Kyrie Eleison
Gloria Tibi
Hymn 385
Offertory Anthem—I Am Alpha and Omega
Sanctus
Agnus Dei
Gloria in Excelsis
Nunc Dimittis
Recessional
Benediction
Prayer

The choir boys expect to have a week's outing at the William Lawrence Camp again this summer. The camp is on the bank of the Little River, which runs in back of West Gloucester. There are two buildings on the property, one an assembly house with enclosed piazza for meals, convenient kitchen, and sleeping quarters for the camp counselors. The other building is a dormitory, which is furnished with twenty-four beds and it has a large open piazza.

There are excellent facilities for swimming, boating, fishing, baseball playing, and tramping in the fields and woods near the camp. For the last five years there has been an average of 360 boys each summer, not including the men who are in charge.

Bishop Lawrence, in his address to the Diocesan convention, says, "The summer outing is taking a large and helpful part in our Church life: for through camps and various forms of association the older and younger members of parishes are brought together, clergy and boys mingle on even terms, and men and women find themselves linked to the interests of the boys and girls of the parish in the winter months through their comradeship in the summer camp. The older people gain as much perhaps as the younger. An interesting instance of summer work is that of the William Lawrence Camp in Gloucester, created by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mason, of which Stanton King is the superintendent, and which is rather unique in the fact that it is self-supporting."

South Church Men's Club

Eugene M. Weeks, president of the South Church Men's Club, offers an evening of special interest Friday, June 23, to the men and women of Andover, who have been following the reports of the Republican Convention in Chicago. The delegate from this district, Hon. John N. Cole has consented to tell the story of this important convention from the inside. Women who are interested in the movement of equal suffrage will be interested in Mr. Cole's observations of the women's demonstrations in Chicago.

Other men's clubs of Andover are invited and any of the men and women of our town who will be pleased to know about the brewing places of the great political movements of our time.

Elected Principal at Swampscott

George W. Low, who for the past few years has been principal of the Woburn High school, was elected principal of the Swampscott High school on Saturday, for the coming year, and he will take charge in September. He is 36 years old, a native of Essex, a graduate of Harvard and has taught school in Danvers and Woburn. He was submaster at Pynchard High school for the years 1904, 1905 and 1906, and is well known locally.

BRILLIANT WEDDING

Christ Church Filled with Guests at Greenwood-Hornblower Wedding. Reception at Residence of Judge Cann

Andover was never more inviting than on Thursday of this week when it welcomed to one of the most brilliant social affairs the town has ever known, a great gathering of friends and relatives of Miss Eleanor Greenwood, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Levi H. Greenwood, of Gardner, and Ralph Hornblower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornblower, of Arlington, to attend their wedding in Christ Church at 12.00 o'clock noon and a later reception held at the home of Judge and Mrs. George W. Cann immediately following.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Quimby, rector of St. Paul's Church, Gardner, Mass., assisted by Rev. C. W. Henry, rector of Christ Church, Andover.

While the guests were assembling at Christ Church from 11.30 to 12.00 o'clock, organist John P. Marshall of the Boston Symphony Orchestra rendered the following music:

Cathedral Music and Prelude to Act III from Lohengrin
Nocturne
Benediction Nuptiale
Wedding Song
Canticle—Nuptiale

At 12.00 o'clock the wedding party was welcomed with the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the attendants included Robert Williams of Brookline, Harvard '11 as best man; Miss Margaret Greenwood, sister of the bride as maid of honor and six bridesmaids—Miss Margaret Wellington, of Boston; Miss Katharine Herrick, of Milton; Miss Frances Benedict, of Cambridge; Miss Dorothy Burrage, of Brookline; Miss Eunice Taylor, of Boston; and Miss Rosamond Wood, of Hudson, N. Y.

Serving as ushers were the following, several of whom were classmates of the groom in Harvard 1911: Robert W. Atkins, of Belmont; Alfred R. Meyer, of Brookline; S. Trafford Hicks, of Arlington; Henry H. Meyer, of Kansas City; Abbot Stevens, of North Andover; Charles Baird, Jr., of Akron, Ohio; George Russell Harding, of Boston; Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, Iowa; Philip Wood, of Hudson, N. Y. (a cousin of the groom); and Richard N. Greenwood, of Gardner (a brother of the bride).

Beautiful Christ Church was made even more beautiful with extensive decorations of delicate pink and white peonies, gladioli and pale yellow Marguerites and ferns.

The bride was gowned in ivory liberty satin (with court train) and quaint pointed bodice, trimmed with tulle lace and orange blossoms. The veil was of point applique lace, draped carried white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was gowned in cream point of Flanders lace with touches of old rose ribbons run through the lace; her hat was a Leghorn with rose feather and lace and she carried Tausendschon roses and pale yellow Marguerites.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of pale yellow net (skirts of fluted ruffles) and jacket effect of crystal trimming. They wore Tuscan straw hats with flowered wreaths and narrow ribbon streamers of nature blue and carried old-fashioned parasols of cream lace, gifts of the bride.

At the close of the ceremony, the wedding party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March and all crossed the street to the beautiful home of Judge and Mrs. Cann, grandparents of the bride.

Little has been seen of the sunshine for many days, but fortunate indeed were the nearly one thousand guests who were able to enjoy the reception under clear skies and in the setting provided by the beautiful house and grounds arranged especially for this particular function. The bride and groom received their guests in the dining room and were assisted in receiving by the parents of both. A wonderful array of wedding gifts filled some of the upper rooms in the house. These made a collection evidencing the wide acquaintance and friendships possessed by the happy couple. On the spacious lawn at the west of the house a big tent afforded conveniences for serving the wedding repast. The natural charm and attractiveness of the house was added to by simple decorations of pink ramblers roses and garlands of Marguerites.

Mr. and Mrs. Hornblower will enjoy their wedding trip to Maine and New Brunswick and after a month's stay will return to Plymouth, Mass., for the summer. Their permanent home will be at 17 West Cedar street, Boston, in a house recently purchased by the groom.

Mr. Hornblower is a graduate of Harvard 1911, a son of Henry Hornblower of the firm of Hornblower & Weeks, a recently admitted member of that firm, and a young man who gives promise of having a brilliant business career. His bride is the elder daughter of a former president of the Massachusetts Senate, Hon. Levi H. Greenwood, a gentleman who has not only a high place in the political life of the State, but who also is one of the commanding figures in the large business activities of New England.

The idea of having the wedding in Andover was a most happy one, joining as it did the grandparents of the bride to the occasion in a way to give them exceeding pleasure and satisfaction as important factors in making the event such an enjoyable one.

A 60-foot iron flag pole has been erected by Dr. George B. Elliott on his Frye Village estate. Dr. Elliott is expected to return from his trip to Moosehead Lake about June 17.

WEDDING

JOHNSON—BAILEY

The following clipping from the Thursday evening edition of the Framingham Evening News is of local interest as the bride formerly resided in town and is well known locally:

The home of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Bailey of 79 Union avenue, Framingham, was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Wednesday evening when Miss Elizabeth Mary Bailey and Chas. L. Johnson were united in marriage.

The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock, Rev. Frederick Allen Mooney of Framingham officiating. Miss Ethel G. Conklin of New York and Newark, N. J., was the bridesmaid and Warren Henderson of Framingham was the best man.

At the reception which followed about 75 were present. Many practical and beautiful gifts were received by the couple.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white chamoise and lace and carried sweet peas. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white lace and carried pink sweet peas.

The double ring service was used. Miss Jessie Knight played the wedding marches of Wagner and Mendelssohn. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson motored to Marlboro enroute to northern Vermont where they will spend their honeymoon.

The ushers were Messrs. Leslie Leach Oscar Wallace and William Bailey.

To Spread Information About Postal Service

The Postmaster General, believing that every business concern and every school should be provided with full information about the postal service, announces a reduction in the price of Postal Guides which should bring them within reach of the general public to a greater extent than ever before.

The new prices are: Complete Guide, cloth, 40 cents; manila bound, 30 cents. Abridged Guide (equally good for most purposes), cloth, 30 cents; manila, 15 cents. Monthly supplement, eleven issues, paper bound, 35 cents.

Samples of all these publications may be seen at the local postoffice, where orders will be received for delivery late in July.

BALLARDVALE

Ballardvale played the strong Butter Crusts of Lawrence on the playstead Saturday afternoon.

Louis G. Buck was called suddenly away to Connecticut to attend the funeral of his brother, Asa Buck. The deceased was a well-known resident of Ballardvale.

Special efforts are being made to make the meeting of Merrimack Valley Circuit League which meets with the local Epworth League June 19, the very best ever held by that organization.

The children are rehearsing faithfully for the ribbon drill which will be given at the lawn party to be held on Willis B. Hodgkins' grounds on Saturday afternoon. This with the many other events arranged on the program will be sure to provide a good social afternoon for everybody. Come and enjoy a good time and help along the local Village Improvement Society.

The regular meeting of Ballardvale Lodge was held last Monday evening. It was a meeting of exceptional interest and the special Good of the Order was in charge of Mrs. Louis Kibbee and consisted of a "flower contest" which caused much fun and enjoyment for all present. The first prize was divided between Miss Clara Moody and Mrs. Harry Nason and the other prize was awarded to Mrs. Benjamin Summers.

The Children's Day exercises at the Congregational church Sunday were of especial interest. There was a good attendance the center pews being reserved for the children. The pastor preached a very interesting sermon to the children. One of the main features of the exercises was the baptism of William Henry Hodgkins and Richard Bradley Hodgkins. Then followed the distribution of Bibles by the pastor to the children who had reached the age of seven years and had previously been baptized. Their names follow: Edith Viola Abbott, Beatrice May Batchelder, Marion Lithgow Hall, Dorothy Clara Kirkman, Charles Alfred Partridge, William Alexander Windle.

Children's Day Concert

The following program was rendered in a very creditable manner at the Children's Day concert held at the local Methodist church last Sunday evening at six o'clock. The program follows: Organ Voluntary; singing, choir; prayer, pastor; song, "Down in the Meadow"; Miss Moody's Class; recitation, Anita Wells; solo, Norman Kibbee; recitations, Albert Coates, Mary Rice, George Hackney, Fred Hackney; solo, Anita Wells; recitations, Charles Nason, Carrie Newcomb, Carl Wells, Hazel Clapp; song, "The Violet"; Carrie Newcomb, William Lord, Annie Kelson; recitations, Lewis Nason, Annie Kayley, William Lord, Dorothy Jenkins; dialogue, "June Flowers"; Amy Kayley, Anita Wells, Annie Kayley, Annie Kelson; singing, choir; recitations, Arthur Skaling, Annie Kelson, Norman Kibbee; dialogue, "Roses and Buttercups"; Dorothy Jenkins, Mary Rice; singing, choir; remarks, pastor; collection, Anita Wells, Dorothy Jenkins; benediction, pastor.

WEST PARISH

Herbert Carter, Harvard 1917, is at his home for the summer vacation.

Ruth Abbott entertained Helen and Raymond Wiley over the week-end at her home at the center.

Mrs. Samuel King has returned to her home in Billerica after spending a few days with Mrs. Harry Wright of Lowell street.

Miss Elizabeth Wiley has returned to her home in Waltham after spending the week-end with Miss Pearl McCollum of Lincoln street.

William B. Corliss left the Parish Thursday to join his wife and baby in Richmond, Vt., where he will visit his aged father and other relatives.

Mrs. L. N. Downing, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. F. K. Hardy, for a number of weeks, has gone to Bath, Maine, where she will spend the summer.

Last Sunday evening in the West church the pastor, Rev. Newman Matthews gave a stereopticon talk on Congregational Shrines around the world, which took the place of the regular Christian Endeavor meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newton, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newton, Jr., attended a very pretty wedding in Lowell Wednesday evening, when Clarence Edwards was united in marriage to Blanche Libby, both parties being from Lowell. Mr. Edwards, with his father, formerly conducted a brush factory on the River road in West Andover.

Saturday evening of this week there will be a lawn party at the Osgood schoolhouse, the proceeds to go toward buying a piano for the school. Music will be furnished by some of the boys from the boys' school in Lawrence. There will be for sale aprons, lemonade, cake, ice cream and candy; also a mystery table and a fortune-teller who can tell your past, present and the future.

Ruth Abbott gave a party to a number of her friends last Saturday evening at her home in the center. The evening was pleasantly spent playing games, after which light refreshments were served. Those present were Dorothy Cutler, Pearl McCollum, Helen and Elizabeth Wiley of Waltham, Annie Leslie and Ruth Abbott; Mr. Adams, Raymond Wiley, Fred McCollum, Herbert Rose, Edwin Matthews, Kenneth Hardy, James Carter, and Harold Abbott.

At the Grange meeting Tuesday evening, after the business of the meeting was over, the lecture hour was given over to Walter R. Putney who gave a very interesting and instructive illustrated talk on birds. Mr. Putney showed the birds, their nests and the different insects that destroy trees and vegetables. He told of the habits of birds and the number of different insects each bird could destroy during a day. Mr. Putney is superintendent of schools in Ashland and Hopkinton and is a member of the State Grange Bird Committee for the protection of song birds. Visitors were present from Methuen Grange, and as it was an open meeting there were some visitors who were not Grange members.

ABBOTT VILLAGE

Mrs. Alex Black of Beverly visited friends in the Village this week.

Miss Mary McKenzie of Essex street has entered the employ of the Smith & Dove company.

William Bailey of South Framingham is visiting at the home of his uncle, John Ryley, on Essex street.

Mrs. Isabell McLaughlin of Red Spring road is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Soutar in Melrose.

Mrs. George Fyffe of Essex street underwent an operation this week at the Lawrence General Hospital.

Mrs. John Ryley of Essex street attended the wedding of her niece, Miss Bailey in South Framingham last week.

Mrs. August Writzberger and family are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermitt, on Red Spring road.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Haddon of Beverly spent the week end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Haddon of Essex street.

There was a meeting of the Andover United football club last Monday evening in the Village hall. It was decided to elect committees at the next meeting, to be called by the president. C. J. Anderson of the local club will go to Beverly tonight to present medals to the champion U. S. M. A. club which won the district league championship this season. Mr. Anderson will represent the Lawrence, Lowell and District League.

I. O. G. T. Notes

Both the adult and juvenile lodges increased their membership and good fellowship at their regular meeting Monday evening in the Village Hall. The children will be honored by a visit from the Grand Superintendent of Juvenile Work, Sister Peabody of Worcester, in the near future. For the next meeting, Brother Charles Valentine has arranged a special entertainment which the children should not fail to attend.

Lodge Deputy, William Boodle, of Haverhill, took charge of the adult lodge meeting until recess, during which time he initiated four candidates. After the interval Chief Templar George Fyffe presided over the good of the order which took the form of a Victrola party by Joseph Keith, Jr.

The union social which is to be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week in Methuen will be in charge of Brook Lodge on Wednesday evening and the Abbott Village lodge will attend on the second night.

Got Careless

At the battle of Bull Run General Arthur met a soldier with a bad wound in his face, running towards Washington. "That's a bad wound you have, my man," said the general, "where did you get it?"

"Got it in the Bull Run fight." "But how could you get hit in the face at Bull Run?" "Well, sir," said the man, half apologetically. "I got careless and looked back."

A ROUNDABOUT PAPER

I have said little about the war. It is a terrible war. Surely the "pomp, pride and circumstance of glorious war" may be clearly seen in thousands of dead men lying unburied for weeks around Verdun.

The glamour and tinsel of preparedness parades and making humanity enjoy the parade when contrasted with the butchery of real war, should make us detest the settling of disputes by war. Of course, it is true that we have only to die once but the untimely taking off of so many young men and the grief of their relatives when they read the account of their deaths as well as the debts that the war entails on the countries involved, must be put on the debtor side of the ledger.

The proverb tells us that calamities never come singly. We have a good reason for this in the recent happenings to Great Britain. The Irish Rebellion; the loss of the best warship Queen Mary with one thousand good men and true, who when the ship was sinking sang the national anthem; then the drowning of Kitchener—yet the doggedness and persistence of the Four Million men of Kitchener's army may make the Kaiser ask for peace.

Kitchener was sixty-six years old and for forty years had served his country and done his duty. "After life's fitful fever, he sleeps well."

I do not like to say I told you that Roosevelt would not get the nomination and that Hughes, the silent man, would be the man to oppose Wilson. Every Democrat will vote for Wilson—I am not so sure that every Republican will vote for Hughes and if Roosevelt and his Progressives want Wilson to win, they have only themselves to blame. I am not saying that Roosevelt and his Progressives are wrong, but that is what will happen if they again divide the good old G. O. P.—So there ye are, as Dooley says.

A friend sent me a bit of old British weekly newspapers. I am always proud of my native country when I see a copy of the British weekly and I finish this musing by quoting a clipping from it.

LET US BE KIND

The way is long and lonely. And human hearts are asking for this blessing only—That we be kind. We cannot know the grief that men may borrow. We cannot see the souls storm-swept by sorrow; But love can shine upon the way today, tomorrow—Let us be kind.

Let us be kind; This is a world that has no measure. This is of heaven and earth the highest treasure—Let us be kind. A tender word, a smile of love in meeting. A song of hope and victory to those retreating. A glimpse of God and brotherhood while life is fleeting—Let us be kind.

Let us be kind; Around the world the tears of time are falling. And for the loved and lost these human hearts are calling—Let us be kind. To age and youth let gracious words be spoken. Upon the wheel of pain so many weary lives are broken. We live in vain who give no tender token—Let us be kind.

Let us be kind; The sunset dints will soon be in the west. Too late the flowers are laid on the quiet breast—Let us be kind. And when the angel guides have sought and found us. Their hands shall link the broken ties of earth that bound us. And heaven and home shall brighten all around us—Let us be kind.

IAN McDOUGALL

Nature Supreme

Not all the product of artificial greenhouses are so lovely as that of the fields, the country garden, the fence rows, the first roses, the daffodils, the arbutus which hides under the hillside leaves, the first buds of the rhododendrons and the other forms telling of the life blood drawn direct from the earth, while poor mankind has to take all second hand.

Preferred the Work

"Why didn't you quit work and go fishing?" "I tried that once," replied Mr. Restagin. "If getting up at five o'clock in the morning and traveling out to a fishing place and falling into a boat and maybe out of it, and sitting in suspense by the hour in order to land a two-ounce fish are what you call rest and recreation, give me the work."

A Sure Paint Tip

Here is a safe lead to follow in buying paint. Order lead and oil, hand-mixed to suit all conditions—the paint that skilled painters choose for their own property.

Most painters hereabouts prefer lead and oil paint composed of and pure linseed oil. They know it looks well, lasts long and costs least. All things needed for painting and this well-known brand of strictly pure lead always on hand. Courteous service. Deliveries prompt.

PHILLIPS COMMENCEMENT

Dr. Speer and Rev. M. W. Stackpole, and occupied seats in front.

Dr. Speer's text was from the second book of Chronicles, 20th chapter, 15th verse, "For the battle is not yours, but God's."

He spoke in part as follows: "The Old Testament deals with a far-off time, and with a very similar race to ours, but the Old Testament is still a living book of war, and the most vital book of the world. A thousand times more copies of it are circulated year after year than any history that has ever been written, and from the first to the last, it deals with great conflicts between contending forces. St. Paul's life was a life of conflict, of battle, and the story of those days was one continual warfare. That is the conception of life that this old world experience brings home to us today. We all of us face an unending conflict in life. Life is and must always be a battle. With every one of us a beast is here. Inside our own lives we know well these beasts who come to be with us or down to whom we fall. St. Paul, righteous man, schooled in purity of mind and life, tells us that he waged that war all the time. Finding it hard to account for their presence does not excuse man from seeing its reality that assails purity. Warfare with them is not imaginary war, but the real war that ever can be. I don't know how many men there are in these front seats who are going out from this school, but we all have our battle to fight. What is this battle? The achievement of a great task, the successful doing of some work. Life is a conflict and is going to be so, as long as life remains. Life can not be considered just as a conflict in which we without resources try to fight for the victory. The battle is not ours but God's, and we might just as well be heathen if we don't believe this and make it real in our lives. You are going out to fight a hard fight, harder than any you boys have been fighting here. If we fought in our own strength alone, our struggle would be lost."

"Your experience in this school has shown you how certain failure and defeat can be, and our only hope for truth is to have One on our side who is stronger than our foes. Napoleon said, 'The army that remains in its trenches is a beaten army.' As we go out into life there is sure to be a conflict with the enemies we have to deal with. We must fling ourselves in and keep ourselves free from self-deception, that would obscure the real issues. Do not be self-deceived."

On Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock the Class Day exercises were held on the gymnasium campus. A large audience was present to hear the history, oration, poem and prophecy given by members of the Senior class. Selections by an orchestra added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The Class Day Committee and Class Officers follow:

Class Day Committee—Frederick McKingsbury, chairman; Paul Abbott, Ralph P. Hanes, Harold P. Harrower, Maurice S. Gould.

Class Officers—Fall term: Harold P. Harrower, president; Charles Gamble, vice-president; John Charlton, secretary and treasurer.

Winter term: Maurice Gould, president; Charles Faherty, vice-president; Francis Walthew, secretary and treasurer.

Spring term: Charles Faherty, president; Ralph Hanes, vice-president; Charles Gamble, secretary and treasurer.

Following the exercises ivy was planted and a reception and tea was held on the grounds.

The program was as follows:

History Oration Music Poem Prophecy

Gerard M. English Paul R. Doolin Richard H. Bassett Charles W. Gamble

Ivy Exercises Recital

Last night at 8 o'clock the Commencement Recital was given in the chapel. The organist was Carl F. Platteicher and the pianist Edwin Lathrop Baker. The rendition of the selections was exceptionally good and was enjoyed by a large audience. The program was as follows:

Dr. Grenfell's Work in Labrador The Life of Shakespeare Harold B. Whipple, Fall River Through Japan George E. Gale, Jr., Dorchester

There is a great battlefield of remembrance for us all. It is often the memories of the past that make us strong to meet future tests. With some of us it will be the memory of an unstained record. You look back on this record and say, 'I am not going to break the record which is clear and unswerving.' Then for some of us will be the memory that again and again in the past we lost our fight; but this will only help us to win out at last.

"Let us go out today, not soft and weak, but free knights who carry the sword of God, who go out to fight the battle that is His."

Music

Class Day

On Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock the Class Day exercises were held on the gymnasium campus. A large audience was present to hear the history, oration, poem and prophecy given by members of the Senior class. Selections by an orchestra added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The Class Day Committee and Class Officers follow:

Class Day Committee—Frederick McKingsbury, chairman; Paul Abbott, Ralph P. Hanes, Harold P. Harrower, Maurice S. Gould.

Class Officers—Fall term: Harold P. Harrower, president; Charles Gamble, vice-president; John Charlton, secretary and treasurer.

Winter term: Maurice Gould, president; Charles Faherty, vice-president; Francis Walthew, secretary and treasurer.

Spring term: Charles Faherty, president; Ralph Hanes, vice-president; Charles Gamble, secretary and treasurer.

Following the exercises ivy was planted and a reception and tea was held on the grounds.

The program was as follows:

History Oration Music Poem Prophecy

Gerard M. English Paul R. Doolin Richard H. Bassett Charles W. Gamble

Ivy Exercises Recital

Last night at 8 o'clock the Commencement Recital was given in the chapel. The organist was Carl F. Platteicher and the pianist Edwin Lathrop Baker. The rendition of the selections was exceptionally good and was enjoyed by a large audience. The program was as follows:

Dr. Grenfell's Work in Labrador The Life of Shakespeare Harold B. Whipple, Fall River Through Japan George E. Gale, Jr., Dorchester

There is a great battlefield of remembrance for us all. It is often the memories of the past that make us strong to meet future tests. With some of us it will be the memory of an unstained record. You look back on this record and say, 'I am not going to break the record which is clear and unswerving.' Then for some of us will be the memory that again and again in the past we lost our fight; but this will only help us to win out at last.

"Let us go out today, not soft and weak, but free knights who carry the sword of God, who go out to fight the battle that is His."

Junior Prize Speaking

The fourth annual Junior Public Speaking Contest in connection with the Commencement week exercises was held in the Stone chapel on Monday evening. The program was as follows:

The Joy of Living

is not fully understood until you have tried paddling in the Game Sanctuary with the Andover Canoe Club Canoes.

Have a new and wonderful type of Canoe, which is safe, fast, comfortable and good looking. This feature of safety is so popular that we have to maintain fifty canoes to amuse the public.
These canoes are painted with a color which is invisible to the mosquitoes in the evening, which avoids annoyance from that source. Just come down Central Street and have a ride.

For the super-timid, we announce that the Ballard Line will begin a schedule of excursions on or about July 4.
The motor yacht "Wm. Ballard" is now building at the shop of Capt. Abbott, and will be launched, with appropriate ceremonies, Saturday afternoon, July first, at two o'clock.

Every modern improvement has been embodied in the design, and Andover will have the first excursion boat in its history.

The boat is named after William Ballard of Newbury 1645 and Andover 1653, the founder of the local family of that name, and a common ancestor both of the sponsor, and the master of the boat.

MASONIC SERVICE

Lawrence Council of Royal and Select Masters Attended Divine
Worship at Christ Church

Lawrence Council of Royal and Select Masters attended divine service at Christ church last Sunday morning.
Special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Choirmaster and Organist B. Frank Michelsen.

Rev. C. W. Henry preached a special sermon, taking for his text, "And he set the cherubims within the inner house and their wings touched one another in the midst of the house."—I Kings, 6th chapter, 27th verse.

He said in part:
"Houses are curious things," a modern writer makes one character say to another. "We take a morsel of illimitable space and wall it in and roof it over. Suddenly it ceases to be part of God's outdoors and becomes an entity with an atmosphere of its own. We warm it with our fires, animate it with our affection, we furnish it with such things, as seem good to our eyes. We do this to get shelter for our bodies, but we acquire as well an instrument that reacts on us in its turn."

It is true that houses do accomplish this two-fold result. The history of the nations point to men, who because of their special home influence, from the character of their house, have been moulded for their unique work. The gracious presence of Washington's house at Mt. Vernon affects the visitor today.

"Every house is in some bounded nation. Like a house in a particular town or city, stands every individual lodge or chapter of Masonry, having its particular effect on its members.
This group of Royal and Select Masters is an identified place in the widespread world of Masonry. In these days of Shakespeare's re-birth some words of his seem pertinent now. "In Twelfth night."

"Viola: 'What country, friend, is this?'"

The Otis Prize—awarded to that member of the Senior class who, having been a member of the school for at least three years, has in the judgment of the faculty, shown the greatest general improvement, $50; sustained by Joseph Edward Otis, class of 1888.
Charles Philip Gould, Freeport, Long Island, N. Y. Committee of award:
The Faculty of Phillips Academy.

The Snell History Prize—Excellence in American History, $50; sustained by Bertrand H. Snell of Potsdam, N. Y.
Donald Hatch Andrews, Southington, Conn.

The Junior Public Speaking Contest (already awarded)—two cups. Harry Ellsworth Varrell, Cambridge; George
Ellsworth Gale, Jr., Dorchester Center;
Spencer, Andover. Hugh Harding award: Arthur W. Leonard, Robert P.
Keep, Dr. Claude M. Fuess, of the Faculty of Phillips Academy.

The Butler-Thwing Prize (already awarded)—awarded to that member of the Junior class who has secured the highest average on his examinations for entrance to the Academy, $15. Sustained by Francis Wendell Butler-Thwing, class of 1908. Hugh Harding Spencer, Andover. Committee of award:
The Faculty of Phillips Academy.

The George Lauder Prize—Excellence in English History; in memory of George Lauder of the class of 1897, $50. Bertrand W. Cohn, Brookhaven, Miss.
Committee of award: Albert Farnsworth of the Newton Classical High School; Archibald Freeman, head of the History Department in Phillips Academy.

The Dalton Prize—Excellence in Chemistry, $50, (awarded for the highest grade of work for the entire year).
Waldo Hayward Brown, Brookline.
Judge: Frederick M. Boyce of the Faculty of Phillips Academy.

The Goodhue Prizes—Excellence in English Literature and Composition, including the more practical topics of elementary rhetoric, $15, $10; sustained by the family of the late Francis A.
Goodhue of Andover. First, Laurence Wellman Beilenson, Helena, Ark.; second, Howard Vanderlip McDowdne, Brookline. Judge: Sharon O. Brown of Brown University, Providence, R. I.

The Harvard-Andover Scholarships; sustained by Henry S. Van Duzer of the class of 1871. 1, $300—available for a graduate of Phillips Academy during his freshman year in Harvard College;
the award, based on high scholarship, to be announced at the close of the recipient's senior year in the school.
Clinton McCarthy Jones, Hammond, N. Y. Committee of award: The Faculty of Phillips Academy. 2, $300—awarded on the basis of high scholarship to a member of the incoming Senior class who is preparing for Harvard;
the award to be announced at the close of the student's Middle year on the basis of his record up to that time.

The James Greenleaf Fuller Memorial Scholarship; sustained by Samuel Lester Fuller of the class of 1894, in memory of his brother—$200. Available during his senior year for a student of limited means who in the judgment of the Principal embodies in scholarship, character and influence the best ideals of school life. Herman Chambers Wilson, Asheville, N. C. Judge: The Principal of Phillips Academy.

P. A. '94-Harvard '98 Scholarship—to be awarded during his senior year in Phillips Academy to a student of limited means who has been in the Academy not less than one year, and is preparing for Harvard, the recipient to be in good scholarship standing and in the judgment of the Principal to possess the best qualities of all-round leadership; $200. Alexander Tison, Jr., New York, N. Y.

The Andrew Potter Prizes—best essays on assigned subjects at Commencement Exercises, $30, $20; sustained by J. Tracy Potter, class of 1890.

"Captain: 'Illyria, Lady!'"
"Viola: 'And what should I do in Illyria?'"

"My brother he is in Elysium."
"So I, who am not a Mason, what should I be doing, as a guide in the Illyria of Masonry? My interest, my training, my knowledge is in the Elysium of the priesthood of this church. Yet a stranger may tread on your borders.
As a man may not leap across a country,
but must go slowly, if he is to learn,
so it is impossible to note all the stations on the road to the highest in Masonry. Sometimes, too, an out-sider's view is suggestive even as the nations, today, are affected by public opinion outside their confines."

"Now it is interesting to note that this Episcopal church and Masonry have a bond of sympathy and somewhat of a common heritage. They both proclaim the historic view point. Neither is the creation of the moment. Judaism is the background. A well defined heritage in Masonry is answered in this church by its historic Episcopate. They both have present day allegiance to this nation. Both are loyally patriotic.
They both use the Bible. They both recognize the ritualistic habit—which is in germ in all people. They both are filled with a sense of God with us.
Every man to be a Mason must believe in God, as must every church member,
Our common aim is to lift up character,
to make known on our way, the revelation of God's righteousness, love, gracious purpose and gracious work; to proclaim the living God.

"Glorious things are spoken of thee
O city of God.' We can hear like things said of the cities of men if we are true.
May we, the sons of men, gain from our generation, through our good character, in growing strength and wisdom, citizenship and membership in that vision city, the New Jerusalem; but, pray God, may we too show our good ideals at work, here in this present world, by living up more loyally to our promised word."

Senior Play

Last Friday evening in the town hall
the Senior Class of Punched presented the two-act comedy entitled, "The Rebellion of Mrs. Barclay," before a large audience. The members of the cast all took their parts well under the competent coaching of Principal Hamlin.

Eldred Larkin, as Morton Barclay, the disagreeable and grouchy husband, did his part especially well as did also Gertrude Berry, who played the part of his meek wife who patiently bore her husband's outburst of temper.

Annie Leslie very cleverly played the part of Ruth Carter, Mrs. Barclay's sister, while Annie Harnedy as Mary Ann O'Connor, the Irish maid scored a great success in her role, keeping the audience in good humor throughout the play. Miss Ruth Abbott, skilfully portrayed the part of Mrs. Brown, Morton's sister, who was the cause of the rebellion of Mrs. Barclay, while the part of Cora her daughter, was very well acted by Gladys Ralph.

The part of Dennis O'Hara the Irish helper about the house and grounds was taken by Joseph McNally and the parts of Elsie Stuart, a neighbor, and Roger Stuart, her brother, played by Lillian McCarthy and Augustus Brown, were very well done.
